A Message from the Female Academic Leaders Fellowship NPC Board to Stakeholders

As a valued partner to the the Female Academic Leaders Fellowship programme (FALF), we wish to take this opportunity to thank you for your continued support and partnership in pursuing our joint commitment to the transformation of our society. As you are aware, FALF was created to contribute to the gender and racial transformation of the academic leadership at our public universities.

In this regard, we wish to inform you that Dr Judy Dlamini our chairperson has taken the responsibility for executive management of FALF. We look forward to strengthening and growing our partnership with you. Since our establishment in 2020, with the support of our funders and university executives, we have supported the professional growth of over 90 female academics with many attributing their successful promotion to senior positions to the support received from the program. We'll also be launching two research chairs in the next quarter, a GBVF research chair to be hosted at Wits University and a Entrepreneurship and Financial Inclusion research chair to be hosted at Tshwane University of Technology.

Again, thank you for your continued support and commitment to the gender and racial transformation of our society.

Yours sincerely,

The FALF Board of Directors
